

RFMS

RFMS boasts a complete Enterprise Resource Planning system by the same name. "Our software is designed to address every different facet of the flooring business from builder, commercial and retail to apartment management and to handle the very beginning of the process through the financials," said Terry Wheat, president. The software sends internal alerts and updates if information changes on a job and also tells people what step should come next.

"The scheduling feature helps manage all resources and financing and can teach managers where to put their resources and how many jobs their store [or company] can handle," Wheat said. It keeps track of how many jobs per day a business can take on and schedules those jobs. It also sends an alert if goods are backordered or a shipment is delayed so customers can be notified. FCW
